NUTRITION TRACKING

87.5% of health care claims are due to an individual's lifestyle. Make healthy lifestyle choices by using nutritional scales. These kitchen scales have the ability to give the nutritional values of the foods weighed, including calories, carbohydrates, fat, protein, fiber and cholesterol.

WEIGHT & VOLUME MEASUREMENTS

A cup is a cup, right? Well consider that not everyone measures by volume the same. For example, scooping a cup of flour out of the bag will yield a few extra grams than if it were poured into a measuring cup because it is packed tighter. That's enough to make a difference in your baked goods. Because of this, measuring by weight with a scale is widely recognized by professional chefs as the best way to measure your ingredients.

BATH SCALES

OBESITY IS A PROBLEM
