

Did You Know...

Buck ErgoHunters offer innovative features you won't find anywhere else

Start with the handles. Every ErgoHunter features Buck's exclusive ergonomic contouring (called "palm swell" in firearm grips) for maximum comfort and reduced hand fatigue, so important to hunters. And raised, machine-cut checkering adds more to a safe, secure grip.

- In addition to that, ErgoHunter Skinners offer important choices. Solid fixed blades to satisfy those who still find that best meets their needs, including models with a guthook. The full-tang blade is 4-3/4". For those who want a more compact but rugged knife, there are three Folding ErgoHunters. They have a 3-inch one-hand opening blade, with extra-thick locking liners made of 410HC stainless steel to make them rock-solid when locked open.
- Options in steel, too. Following Buck's customer-friendly good-better-best pricing, the ErgoHunters offer you a choice of Buck's reliable 420HC stainless steel in the Select models; 12C27 Mod Sandvik™ steel blade for more corrosion resistance at the Avid level; and the finest quality S30V stainless steel for ultimate sharpness, superior edge retention, toughness and corrosion-resistance in the Pro.
- All come with a sheath. All are backed by the famous Buck Forever Warranty. And in keeping with Buck's American Commitment, all are made in the USA. With all these exclusive features and benefits, prices range from as little as $73 to just $210.
